Important points

- Accreditation is a mark of assurance that the degree meets the standards set by the Engineering Council in the UK Standard for Professional Engineering Competence (UK-SPEC).
- This award is offered since 2019. As other wards, the accreditation is being sought from the IET.
- The University of Hertfordshire has over 60 years' experience of teaching electronics engineering, we have long-established links with the electronics engineering sector. Our links within the sector ensure that our courses are tailored to meet the needs of employers in this sector.
- This MSc focuses on the development of the students' in-depth knowledge and understanding of a broad range of Electronics Engineering expertise. Students will build strong design skills for the seamless integration of software and hardware for sustainable and smart applications using Microprocessor/DSP/FPGA technology
- The course will introduce students the recent advances in embedded intelligent systems with coverage of artificial intelligence, sustainability and smart system engineering.
- Students will be able to critically evaluate new developments in technology, carry out independent research and coordinate project activities.
- The programme is offered in full-time and part-time modes.
- Full-time students
 - Semester A (September) Entry in Option 1 is to include an early start of project module in a study pattern of semester A, B then C. It runs over one calendar year.
